A War on Obesity, Not the Obese

a conversation with Jeffrey M. Friedman, M.D., Ph.D.

Interview by Ira Flatow, host of NPR's Talk of the Nation: Science Friday

Jeffrey M. Friedman, head of the Laboratory of Molecular Genetics at Rockefeller University, studies the role of genetics in obesity. His article, "A War on Obesity, Not the Obese," is included in The Best American Science and Nature Writing 2004, a compilation of science writings chosen from among hundreds of the year's published lay science articles. Friedman's article, which originally appeared in Science, can be read at www.rockefeller.edu/events/obesity.

*"Obesity is not a personal failing,
but a battle
against biology."*
